A Peek at 2009 Fall Programming

The Institute has been busy lining up a great selection of seminars for the 2009/2010 season. There will be once only seminars and seminar series. The programming begins October 3rd.

From the intriguing sounding "The Magic of How Things Work", to the interesting "Origin, Development & Culture of the Seminoles", and on to the instructive "Creative/Journalism Workshops"; there will be something for everyone.

For those who like to read, the Book Club continues its journey through the English classic novels. Professor Melinda Simmons from Lake Sumter Community College has been invited back to the Institute. She will present a series of four seminars on "Myths, Legends, and Folklore". Those of you who know Melinda know what fun her seminars can be.

For those interested in how and why the mind and body work as they do, there will be one-time lectures on: "Degenerative Diseases", and "Keeping the Mind in Shape".

Over the next six weeks we will preview some of the programming. There is still much work to be done before the public distribution of the Institute schedule at the end of August, but we will keep you informed through e-newsletters of new programming as seminars are finalized and added to the Fall schedule.

Membership in the Institute

We are often asked how we can present interesting programming at such a reasonable cost. It is not easy. Membership fees help.

We began a membership drive in January 2009, and we are heartened by the response. We are so proud of our members that we have decided to list them. If your name does not appear below, please take a moment and visit www.lakeeustisinstitute.org. At the home page, click on "membership" and then click on "join now".
